The property

With parts dating back to the 16th century and later alterations, Rushy Mead is filled with period character features and yet has been carefully and cleverly renovated and modernised to offer modern practical living. At the heart of this home is a charming and smart kitchen/breakfast room, showcasing exposed timbers with an original chimney and log burning stove. It contains modern shaker style units, stone worktops, a range cooker and a feature central island with a large breakfast bar and space for at least 7 to sit. The kitchen includes a larder and separate utility room. Adjoining the kitchen is a nearly 200 sq ft sitting room with a double aspect, exposed original brickwork and timbers. On the opposite side of the house is another sizeable reception room with double doors outside and currently operates as a television and family room snug. In addition to a downstairs guest toilet, there is a study but with potential to serve other requirements. Upstairs there are three double bedrooms accessed via three separate staircases which is not an unusual feature in houses of this vintage. Two in the more historic part of the house have very high vaulted ceilings and enjoy excellent views onto the garden and are served by a family bathroom. There is also an extremely useful, spacious eaves storage room and the principal bedroom has a modern, shower en-suite. If seeking a particularly relaxing soak, there is a very stylish bathroom located downstairs with a roll-top bath.

Outside

The grounds speak for themselves at Rushy Mead, with the rear garden in particular, extremely impressive upon arrival with a long and wide, rolling lawn extending out into the distance and bounded by mature specimen trees affording total privacy. It includes a large pond with a gazebo and large sections of south facing, paved terrace for excellent outdoor entertaining, which includes a covered pergola seating area with power and a hot tub. The current owners have built a significant and attractive oak-frame, triple garage with wide double doors and importantly have finished it to residential standard in terms of insulation and facilities so that it currently operates as an incredible party and games room downstairs, complete with a bar. Owing to a downstairs bathroom with a shower, this means that the huge 1st floor above with velux windows and a pretty remarkable, glazed, gable-end allows for a multi-functional space, which can meet a variety of different requirements. Attached to the side of this garage block is a secure store facility. There is also a timber summer house with power that whilst now a large workshop was previously a children's games room. The property is accessed by solid, electric automated, Oak gates showcasing a sweeping 150m driveway with grass verge and tree-lined that leads to a vast, shingle driveway allowing easy parking for numerous vehicles. The entire plot measures a little under 2 acres.
